MONTVILLE WOMAN IS ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD

Mrs. Nancy C. Rogers Has Never Used Spectacles.

Mrs. Nancy C. Rogers of Montville rounded out her one hundredth year of life on Monday, August 18. Born in Groton, August 18, 1808, Mrs. Rogers has before her the possibility of seeing at least another birthday ere she goes to the silent land. She is still in possession of all her faculties. There was no attempt at any formal recognition of the anniversary, but several friends called during the day and congratulated her, wishing her many happy returns.

Before her first marriage Mrs. Rogers was Miss Nancy C. Perkins. Of her first marriage, one daughter, Mrs. Nancy M. Street, still survives. After the death of her first husband, she married Lyman Rogers, ten children being born to them. Only one, Francis R. Rogers, survives. There are now living, in addition to these, seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Mrs. Rogers now makes her home with her granddaughter, Mrs. Nan Sawyer, in Alimertown.

Mrs. Rogers in all her long life-time has never had occasion to use spectacles and her eyesight is remarkably good today.

Champion Clark Beats Second Defeat

Robinson Won in Long Game After Ball Changed Hands Many Times—Williams Has Undisputed Lead with King Second—Philadelphia Agitation Will be Decided Today—Two More Van Wickle Games Played—Feltton Leads Second Division.

There were fifty games played in the national league tournament here on Thursday. The first and second divisions exactly half the games have been played, leaving two days in which to play the remainder. In the first division forty-four games have been played, leaving sixty-one to be played, while in the second division forty-one have been played and twenty-five remain. In the third division the play is about over.

There were many changes as the result of loss Thursday games, but despite the slaughter of the champion and ex-champion, Williams maintained his lead and when the lights went out he had five victories to his credit and no losses, with King in second place and Champion Clark in fifth place, having lost a heartbreaking game to the Hoboken team during the evening. The best men of the first division have each other to meet as yet, and it is figured that the winner of the tournament will lose two to three games at least. Bosworth made a break in his run of victories Thursday when King, the western crack, the man who has put Chicago on the roque map, trimmed him in a game which was poorly played by both sides. Bosworth was the victor, but taken into camp by E. Clark, and then King won his game from him, thus defeating two of the ex-champions and the most skillful of players. King concluded the day by winning from Webb, although he made two mistakes which came near putting him into the contest again, however, and he ran the game out after 11 o'clock after Webb had given him.

Bosworth won three games Thursday, defeating Baker, Hogeland and Robinson, while Williams got the best of Hot Springs, Va. It was a close game of the division to meet as yet. Harold Clark is playing a strong game and Edmunds and Jacobus felt before him, his standing at the close of play being ahead of his brother, whom he will probably meet today.

Champion Agin Loses.

A game which kept the experts until a late hour Thursday evening, Champion Clark and Robinson. The latter has been playing long and careful games and by a pretty carom did Williams get away from him. Clark beat Robinson, but he was a poor start and there were several misses Thursday evening, but he had to be taken into camp by the return at one time. Robinson got away from here first and got a rover. Clark got the balls again and on the next quarter made the duke which cost him the game. A short distance from the arch in none too good position he tried the arch which in this was marked with five ball near a hand. Robinson thereafter gave him several open long shots but Clark failed and Robinson ran out the game, getting the applause of a bunch of cracks who waited for the end.

Mrs. Kephart Won Game.

There was a large audience to witness the games Thursday evening, and particular attention was directed to the exhibition game by Mrs. Kephart of Philadelphia and A. R. Webb of Hot Springs, Va. It was a close game, occupying all the evening, but after many difficulties Mrs. Kephart got the balls to working properly and won out, the game being the third quarter and the cage returning.

Another exhibition game was that between Jacobus and Williamson, which the former gave a handicap, which being necessary to put the white ball through the arches at the same time with the black. This was marked with a show a tournament game to be played.

Meeting This Afternoon.

It was announced Thursday evening by Secretary Bishop that the adjourned meeting would be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. At this time will come the appointment of committees by the president, and the movement to the grounds for the national tournament will come to a head. The matter will be presented chiefly on the point that the grounds here are not in the proper condition for the national tournament to be held on, and that they need more attention. As far as can be learned this is the vital question, and the reason to believe that the grounds at Philadelphia would be in any better condition next year, barring the few on which the local games are played. Some of the players are used to the grounds where expense is not a question and the local grounds, which being the national association, can be kept the same if the association says so, the expense being the only question. The grounds here are in as good condition as any in Philadelphia are or can be, and this will be made clear to the meeting today. It is believed that the grounds here are in as good condition as any in Philadelphia are or can be, and this will be made clear to the meeting today. It is believed that the grounds here are in as good condition as any in Philadelphia are or can be, and this will be made clear to the meeting today.

Several Important Games.

The defeat of Bosworth on Thursday by King was one of the important games of the tournament. Both players had numerous opportunities but Bosworth was bothered by his lane wrist and made miss after miss, being finally tied up at the three quarters mark.

Browning succeeded in shutting out Webb Thursday morning, the latter not being able to make an arch. His game was up to the standard this year and as yet he has not won a game. He played too carefully and falls to take the chance which will often give him the game. In Philadelphia, however, he has been doing some great work. His father in the second division has been having a similar slump.

King got his game from Wahly in a trick shot which gave him the lead. Wahly was shut out admirably. Clark's game with Wahly was also a fast one, the champion doing the trick in a strong game.

In the second division Feltton is the leader having six games to his credit and no losses. He was defeated by Baldwin on Thursday, an unexpected finish of the game which King also won. The Philadelphia agitation in the division the leaders have yet to meet and then there will be some scalps.

The second Van Wickle bludge it is thought will probably be played for by Steele, the holder, and Feltton. Whitaker challenged Steele, but as he is from the same town and club it was the claim of the committee that someone from another town should be given a chance.

Van Wickle Match.

Two more games in the Van Wickle match were played on Thursday afternoon between E. Clark and Bosworth.

Band Concert Tonight.

On Thursday afternoon Bullard's orchestra of three pieces furnished a pleasing programme while in the evening there were six pieces in the orchestra, the latter greatly enjoyed. Tonight Tubbs' band will give another concert and the grounds should be packed as doubtless they will be. The programme as arranged by C. W. Tubbs, conductor, is as follows:

Corset Solo—The Holy City Adams

Players as Spectators.

S. E. Prentice of the Providence club arrived on Thursday and it is thought he will be a spectator. The third division but owing to sickness and lack of practice he decided not to and spent the day renewing old acquaintances and watching the close of play.

Joseph Conker of Philadelphia arrived Thursday evening while Mr. Saunders, who has been in the city, has been an interested spectator. He represents the Hyde Park club which is a new club.

CAVALRY VETERANS MEET.

Associated Hold Its Annual Reunion Wednesday at Middletown.

The forty-second annual reunion of the Connecticut Cavalry association was held in C. R. hall, Middletown, Wednesday. The veterans arrived late, with few exceptions, and it was nearly noon when the association met. The president of the association, called the meeting to order. There was an attendance of about 50 at the noon hour, including a number of ladies.

The officers elected were: President, John L. Saxe of Waterbury; first vice president, John L. Farnum of Waterbury; third vice president, George H. Adams of Bristol; secretary and treasurer, George S. Smith of Niantic; assistant secretary and treasurer, E. K. Bradley of Meriden.

A monument committee was appointed as follows: George S. Smith of Niantic, chairman; Ebenezer Bishop of Boston; William Callahan of Willimantic; Brayton Ives of New York; Louis W. Smith of Hartford; Lorenzo D. Converse of Danbury; Charles E. Appel of Middletown. It will be the duty of this committee to raise funds and provide designs for a cavalry monument to be erected in the capital grounds in Hartford. They asked for an appropriation from the present legislature for such a monument, but were told to get a number of the veterans in every location who seldom take a vacation, but they do not believe in it. Such men did not believe in vacations, but they do now, when it is too late.—Meriden Journal.

WORK STARTED FOR MONTVILLE PAPER MILL.

Much Filling in Will Be Done There It is Expected.

Work has already been commenced on the Johnson wharf, preparatory to the conversion of that piece of property and some north of the land and water adjoining it, into a paper mill, says a Montville correspondent. The work has been used chiefly of late as a storage place for railroad ties and other timber which had to be shipped by water. Just what the product to be turned out is a matter known only to those on the inside. Stories abound throughout the town vary from the construction of heavy strawboard, to the manufacture of wrapping papers to the construction of heavy strawboard.

In any event, the construction company has still a few snags to pull up, and it is feared that the project will have either been ignored or overlooked and as soon as any attempt is made to fill up the wharf after the shore line, an injunction will probably be served. There are certain deeds in the possession of the Bolles family which show that part of the property now sought by the Bigelow-Harriman Construction Co. was sold many years ago with the reservation of right of occupancy. It is learned that the owners of these rights are not in any way adverse to the introduction of an industry which will benefit the town, but are keenly alive to the exigencies of the occasion.

The old Johnson wharf has a long history. As far as memory goes, it was built by a Mr. Bolles, who was the first man to attempt to build a wharf there, and it was long ago conducted a small grocery store on this wharf. The first man to really put up a wharf was Mr. Bolles, who was the first man to attempt to build a wharf there, and it was long ago conducted a small grocery store on this wharf.
